

Please leave Indiana's "do not call" law alone. A federal law as a minimum might be a good idea, but not if it overrides existing state laws which work well and provide a higher level of protection from a major annoyance.